SACRAL & SOLAR PLEXUS HEALING CRYSTALS

“Using this stone is the greatest healing I have received in my life.... I have healed the root, energetic cause by using this crystal.” Sara V.

What’s Wrong with Me?

The traumas that have conditioned the structures of the Sacral and Solar Plexus Centers of the body of humanity throughout its long history have resulted in significant barriers to the formation of healthy relationships and the normal, joyful expression of the emotions.

Traumas carry significant energetic consequences, which can lead to tears, ruptures, sprains, and the dislocation of these centers, as well as the more traditionally diagnosed closed or blocked chakras. Long after the initial traumatic experience, the energetic or vital impact is registered in the structure of the chakras and continues to affect its appearance and functionality, which ultimately governs how we relate to one another through future experience. Quite simply, our relationships reflect the condition of these structures. If our relationships are dysfunctional at an emotional and/or sexual-tribal level, it is the result of the traumas that have altered the Sacral and/or Solar Plexus structures.

“I had no idea how much anxiety I had regarding sex until I used the Sacral Healing Crystal and felt completely uninhibited and fully expressive.”

The Path of Healing!

The Sacral & Solar Plexus Healing Crystals are programmed with the Archetypal or Original Pattern of the Sacral & Solar Plexus Centers that are stored in the Divine Mind. The energies stored in these Healing Crystals are discharged into the auric field of those who purchase the Crystals, where the patterns stored in the Crystals reorganize the structures of the Sacral & Solar Plexus Centers into their original condition, before any traumas were registered in and altered their appearance, thereby also affecting their functionality.

Not only does this process reorganize the structures of the Sacral and Solar Plexus Centers, but since our relationships and the expression of our emotions are conditioned by the state of these centers, this process also reorganizes our relationships to reflect the balance and harmony of these reconditioned centers.

“I could feel the energy emitting from the Sacral Center Healing Crystal immediately upon opening its packaging. Before using the crystal I suffered from sexual trauma which caused me to suppress my sexual urges and avoid sex, as well as any sexual expression.

I had no idea how much anxiety I had regarding sex until I used the crystal and felt completely uninhibited, and fully expressive. I cannot only now achieve intimacy on a physical level, but I have also seen profound effects on my ability to connect with others since using the Sacral Center Healing Crystal.” Amber K.

“As I sat in meditation, I felt a movement in my abdomen, as if my sacral chakra was moving back into my body. I felt my heart opening and allowing the flow of energy from my upper chakras into the first three. It felt like a waterfall of energy was clearing blockages and sweeping away debris that didn’t serve me. I sensed my chakras coming into alignment, and I felt blockages in my throat and heart release, as light and energy poured in through my crown chakra into my body.

When I opened my eyes, I felt immediately more grounded--more in my body, more energy, and the world around me appeared more vibrant and "real."

I felt totally reoriented in the world, peaceful and open-hearted, a sensation that I had not felt since before I was sexually assaulted and in an abusive relationship in my late teens. To feel that the trauma is totally removed is astounding to me.” Sara V.
